Doomsday Coin White Paper Summary (English)

The MUAI Foundation's Doomsday Coin is a cryptocurrency with a fixed supply of 2^{31} coins minted once and distributed across multiple blockchains. Ownership is restricted to natural human beings, excluding AI and corporations. The goal is to preserve human wealth during catastrophic events by enabling survivors to inherit assets. If the majority of nodes detect the collapse of civilization, a final countdown redistributes tokens and resets the supply. The project also includes interstellar consensus, stabilizing derivatives, biometric verification and a multi-chain transparency dashboard.
